Biography:

Yo everyone.

That's me in the picture. As you can tell, I get around. Big fan of tech, especially the ontokinetic kind (That means reality bending if you didn't know). Kinda a big deal around here.

I grew up in Durham, North Carolina. Research Triangle REPRESENT! Did my Bachelors at Duke University in Mechanical Engineering, was a total breeze. Graduated in 6 semesters, I needed 7. PHI BETA SIGMA, WOOP WOOP. I used to OWN that frat. They used to call me "Mad J" the way I do these kicks.

My favorite song is Tears by Sabrina Carpenter. 🍷

I miss her.

Accolades:

- Shit... where do I even begin?
- Eyescanners, around this Site. You see them? I made them. All me.
- They're cutting edge. Locked tight.

- Reality anchors? That's my bread and butter.
- Miniature anchors. Portable anchors. Anchors mounted to vehicles, vans, trucks, helicopters. Throwable reality anchor grenades.
- If it's got anchor in the name, then reality's my game.
